

International conference on Clam Aquaculture (First Annoucement) Osaka - December 2016

1 Conference aims

In order to contribute to innovation and sustainable development for fisheries in France and Japan, we will share information on available technology and marketing strategy for Clam Aquaculture in both countries.

2 Topics

Clam Aquaculture: Oyster, "Iwagaki" oyster, mussel, cockle, ...

3 Target groups

Fishers, Fish farmers, Clam industry, Marketing, Managers, Researchers

4 Agenda item

(1) Opening address (5mn x2)

- Representative of Languedoc-Roussillon-Midi-Pyrénées

Région

- Representative of Kyoto prefecture

(2) Keynote lecture [45 min.×2]

- Overview of aquaculture technology in clam industry in France (Institut francais de recherche pour l' exploitation de la mer)

- Overview of aquaculture technology in clam industry in Japan (Japan Fisheries Research and Education Agency)

(3) Oral presentation [20 min.×7]

- Aquaculture technology of oyster in Thau lagoon, France

- Aquaculture technology of mussel in Thau lagoon, France

- Aquaculture technology of "Iwagaki" oyster in Maizuru Bay, Japan (Fisheries cooperative associations of Kyoto)

- Aquaculture technology of cockle in Maizuru Bay, Japan (Kyoto institute of oceanic and fisheries science)

- Marketing strategy of oyster in Thau lagoon, France

- Marketing strategy of mussel in Thau lagoon, France

- Marketing strategy of cockle and "Iwagaki" oyster in Kyoto prefecture, Japan(Fisheries cooperative associations of Kyoto)

(4) Closing address [5 min.]

- Institut francais de recherche pour l' exploitation de la mer

5 Significance of the conference

A memorial event in France Japan innovation year - International exchange based on agreement of science and technology cooperation between Institut Francais de Recherche pour l' Exploitation de la Mer (Ifremer) and Japan Fisheries Research and Education Agency (FRA) - International exchange based on friendship tie-up agreement between Languedoc-Roussillon-Midi-Pyrénées Région, France and Kyoto prefecture, Japan.